PACKLIST

For the urban neurotic

#CANYOUIELDIT

TO BRING . . .

Yes, this is Brandenburg.
Please still bring your swim suits if you want to take a dip in the lake.
The neighborhood does
not need a - best of Berlin - show.

You like big mats
and you cannot lie?
Well these fellows can't supply. Please bring your own sports necessities.

Think of the park and
multiply it by a thousand.
This is how much nature
you should expect - so
pack proper shoes.

The Brandenburg sun
can be shining. It's true.
Quite a lot even. So if you don't want to cry in front of your colleagues (and be stupid), bring sunscreen.

We do have a collection of lonely left-over beauty products from your predecessors for you to use up. But generally bring your own tooth brush, nail clipper, shampoo and whatever makes you feel human.

To prevent going full turkey on your social media addiction and risk losing a like, bring your own charging device (and mention us while you're at it)

You are super sweet and not prepared to stay indoors all evening? We have a very normal sized but nevertheless actively socializing mosquito community. So bring some repellent.

No innovative team work without a ping pong table they said. So we did it - we got one. You need to bring your own rackets, though - if you dare.

A photograph of a bicycle leaning against a metal railing on a bridge. The bicycle is heavily decorated with numerous small, round, gold-colored clocks of various sizes, some of which are attached to the frame and others to the wheels. A red sign with the text "FLOWERDRIVE MAN" is visible on the handlebars. The background shows a canal and buildings in a city setting.

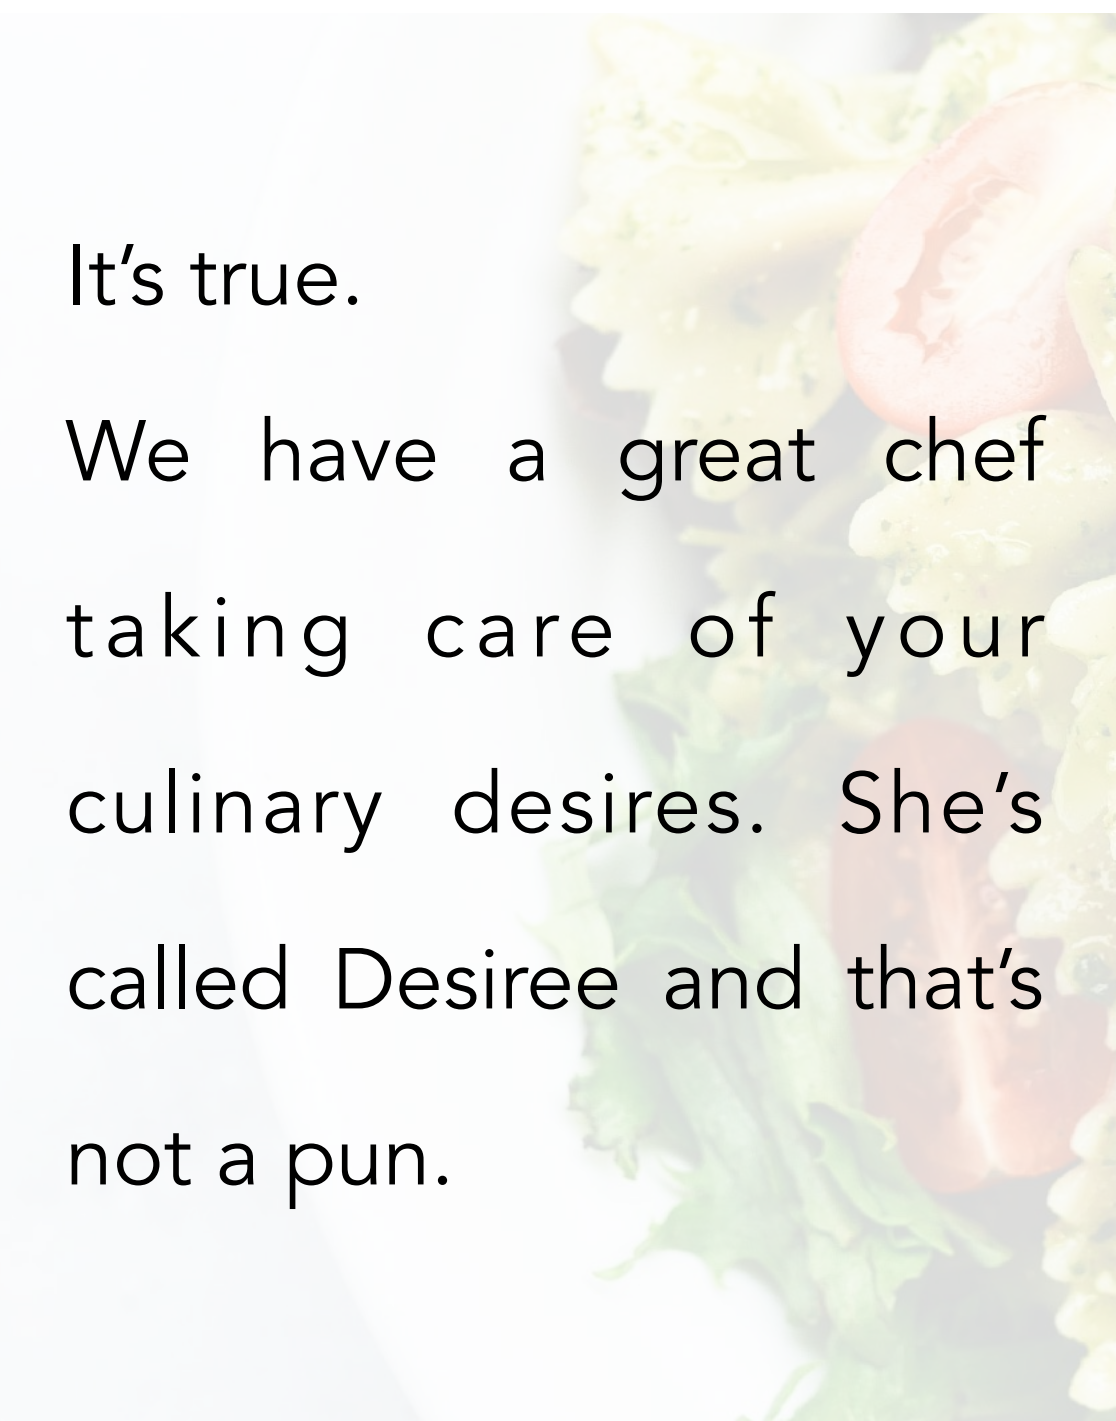

OR NOT TO BRING

Showering every once in a while is considered thoughtful
towards your colleagues.
So we provide shower
towels - for each of you!!
And even bathrobes upon request.

We're not barbaric -
obviously you have fresh
sheets and bedding
waiting for you.

It's true.
We have a great chef
taking care of your culinary desires. She's called Desiree and that's not a pun.

You are a coffee addict,
believe in hydration and
brain food - we've got you covered. Dive into our healthy snacks and beverages.

You have a weak case to argue and need some fancy slides to hide that fact. No worries, we have a beamer and connectors.

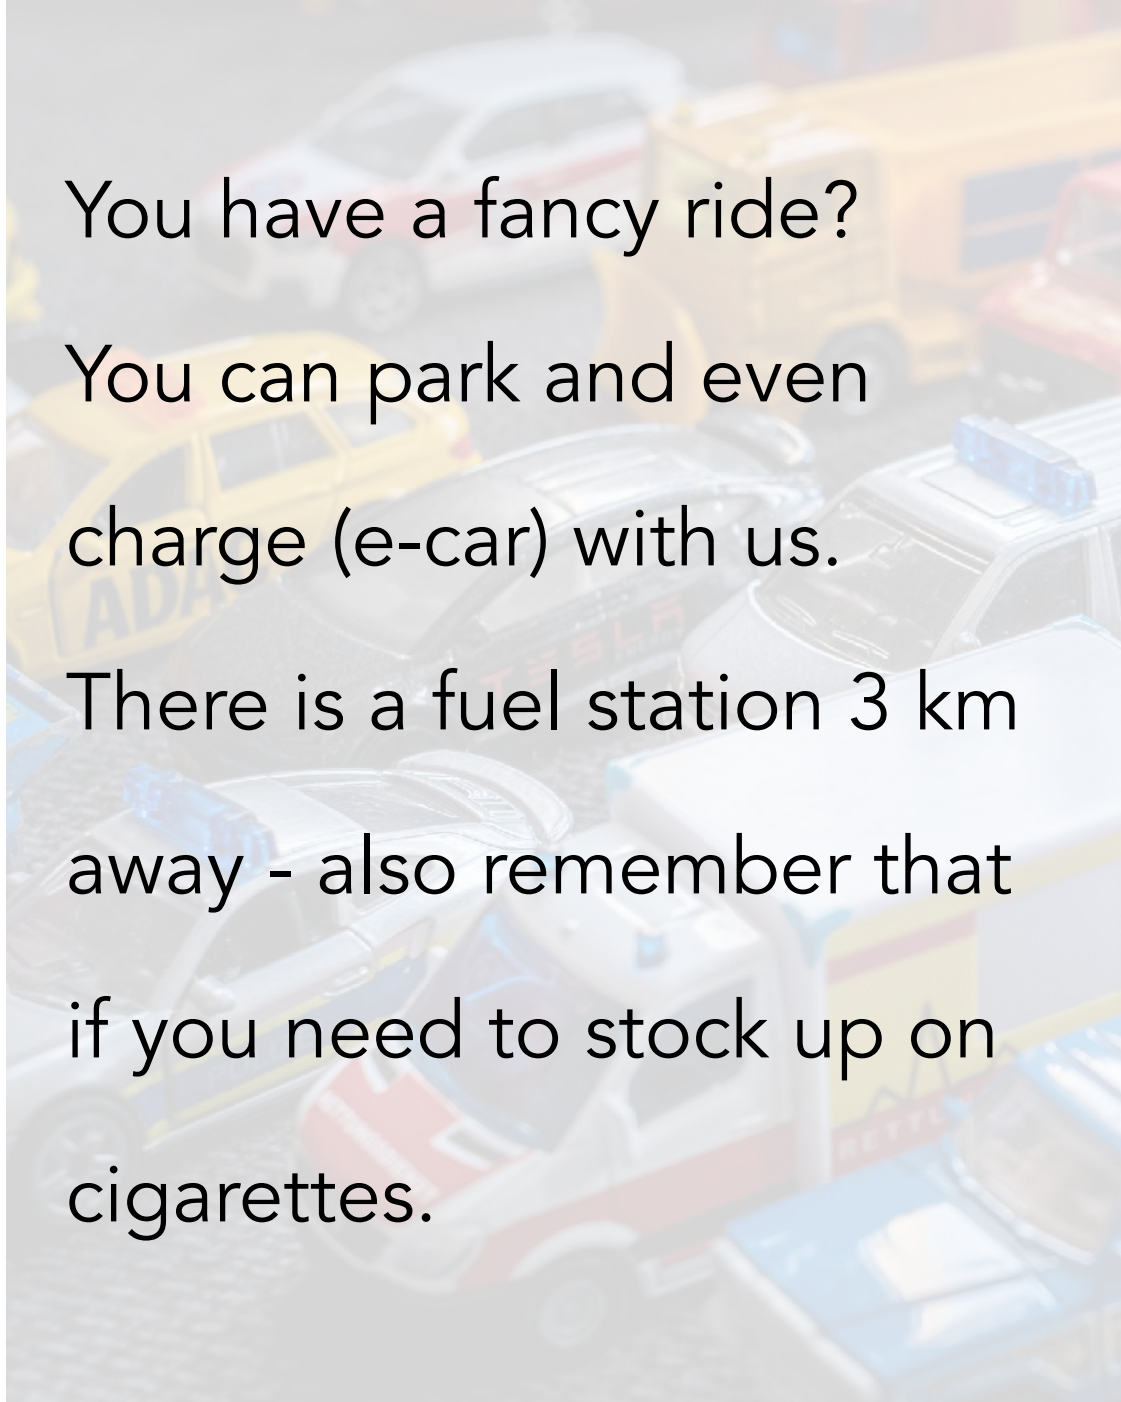

Do we have Wifi?
Does the Pope live in Rome? Of course we do - and an excellent one as it is.

Do we have a moderation box? We're not amateurs, we have a truckload of workshop and prototyping material + some cool gadgets to discover.

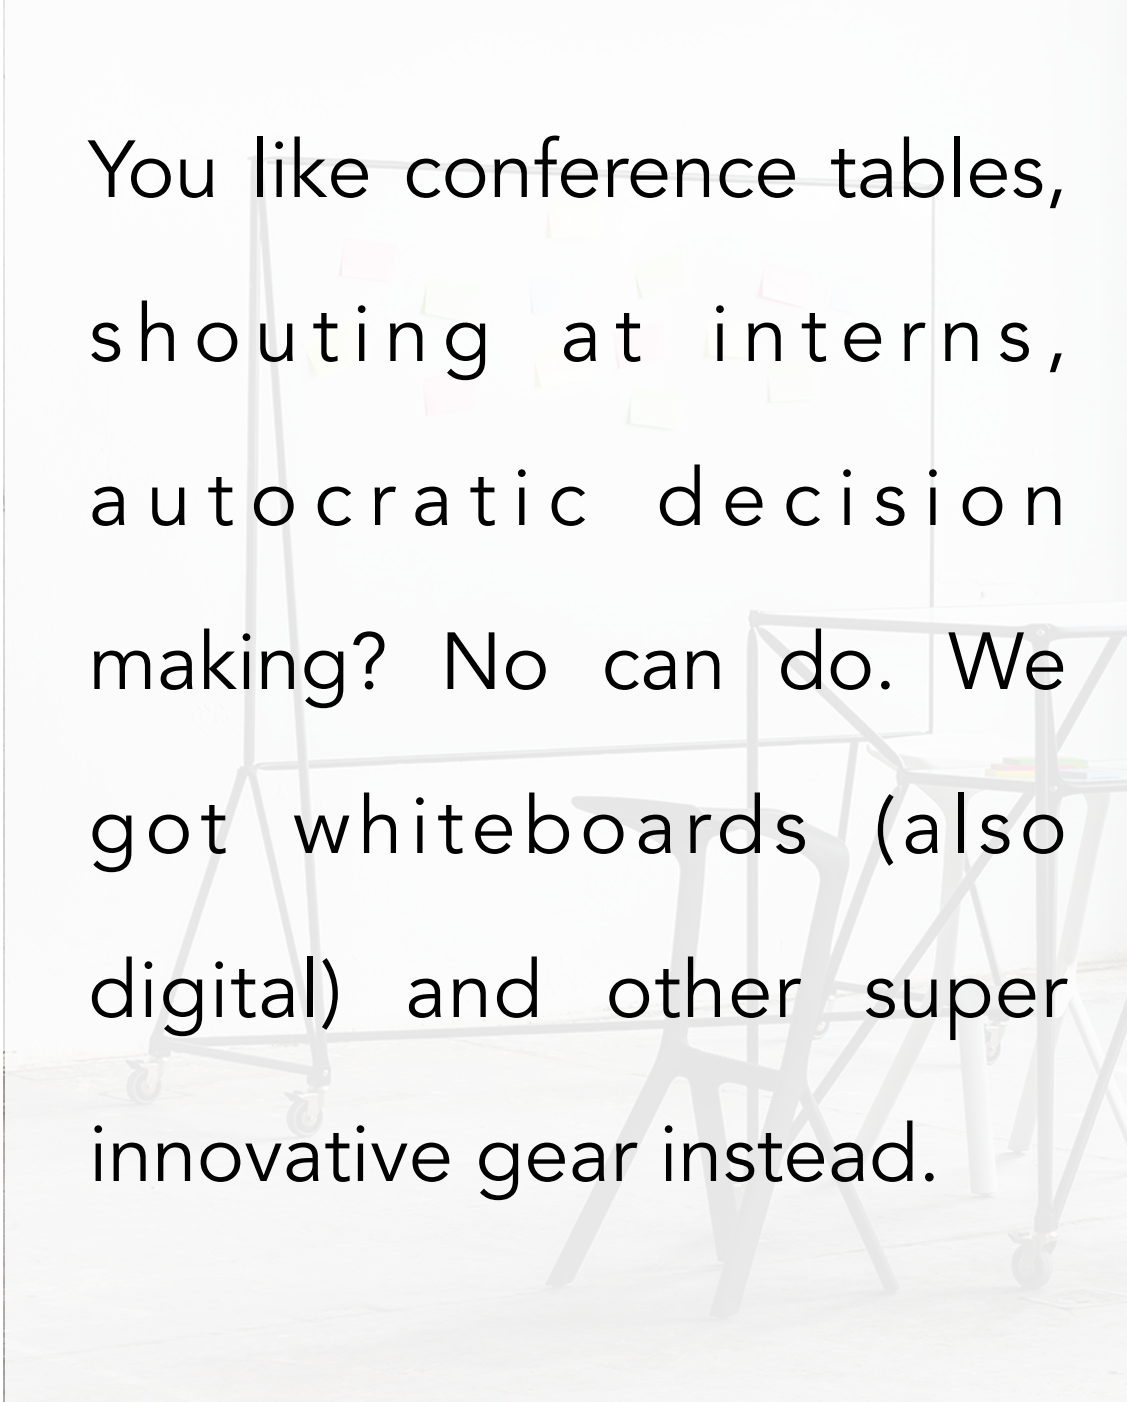

Start your morning with some cheerful tunes, log in a colleague from the other side of the globe or make a grand speech. We've got speakers, microphones and web cams.

You have a fancy ride?
You can park and even
charge (e-car) with us.
There is a fuel station 3 km away - also remember that if you need to stock up on cigarettes.

You like conference tables,
shouting at interns,
autocratic decision making? No can do. We got whiteboards (also digital) and other super innovative gear instead.

Yes you are smart,
innovative and super successful. Sure. But that's just 20%. The remaining 80% of you is plain water.
Like everyone else. So use our drinking bottles to keep it that way.

Culture is important to
you. We get it. To a point. We've got wine, beer and sundowners for
you - not enough to make you misbehave
though.
